Seventeen New Deaths Reported Due To Storm

By International News Service

Seventeen new deaths and millions of dollars in property damage were added today to the toll of the crippling sleet and snow storm that swept over the Midwest New Year's Day and then roared into New York State and New England.

The new death toll included 13 in New England and four in metropolitan New York. It brought to 44 the number of deaths attributed to the storm in the Eastern and Midwest states in the last two days. Previously the midwest counted 27 deaths.

Added to this toll were the 23 deaths in a series of tornadoes and windstorms that struck five southern states just before New Year's Eve.

The new sleet and snow storm was the second to strike New York within a week and came as the eastern metropolis was fighting its way out of last week's record 25.8-inch snowfall.

The new wind-driven snowfall struck the New York City area in the wake of a severe sleet storm that crippled rail lines, street traffic and communication and power service.

The midnight weather bureau report forecast a let-up in the heavy snowfall later today but warned that light snow flurries would continue throughout the day.

A snowfall probably reaching four inches was forecast for the New York area before relief is in sight. The new fallen snow covered icy sheets that made all forms of transportation hazardous.

Temperatures skidded downward as the snowstorm struck the New England area, spreading over six states just recovering from the 8 to 12-inch fall of last week.

Slushy roads were turned into icy sheets as highway and street workers and repair crews were mobilized to keep the lanes of transportation open.

Several highways in Maine already were reported blocked by drifts.

As in the midwest, the storm in New York and New England was driven by winds that reached almost gale force.

Northern New Jersey and parts of Pennsylvania also were in the path of the storm.

Trains were slowed down throughout the storm area today. Some were hours late. Bus lines cancelled several runs and operated on slowed-up schedules.

A fire hazard was created in New York when fire alarm boxes were put out of commission. A five-alarm fire added to the traffic hazards in the heart of the metropolis.

The crippling storm swept into the Eastern Seaboard after leaving death and destruction in its wake throughout the upper Midwest.

Nine storm deaths were counted in the Chicago area, four in other parts of the Midwest and 14 in the collision of two Missouri Pacific passenger trains at Sedalia, Mo., during the blinding snowstorm.

The Midwest storm was centered in northern Illinois and extended into Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa, Indiana, lower Michigan, and northern Kentucky.

Hundreds of persons were made homeless in five southern states by a series of tornadoes and heavy windstorms. At least 23 persons perished in the stricken areas, which included Louisiana, Arkansas, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee.

The destruction was so severe that President Truman classified the wind-lashed sections a disaster area entitled to priority government aid.

PARKING LOT AWARD CLAIMED EXCESSIVE

Appeal is Made; Describe $15,450 Claim for Damages As Too High

PLAN TRIAL BY JURY

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 3.—Describing the $15,450 claim for damages to be paid to private individuals for a public parking lot in the county seat as excessive, an appeal in which the borough of Doylestown is the plaintiff and the Pine Company, Inc., the defendant, has been filed in the Court of Common Pleas, here.

President Judge Hiram H. Keller, in a Court order filed in the Prothonotary's office, has allowed the appeal and stated there will be a trial by jury.

Wesley Bunting, solicitor for Doylestown Borough Council, in the appeal, states Pine Company, Inc., was awarded $12,000 damages, Wynne James, Jr., $2,250, and Dr. Isaac Harry Ritter and his wife, Daisy Hankin Ritter, North Main street property owners, $1,200.

The appeal also states that a jury of view, which was appointed by the Court, filed a report November 24 in which they awarded damage claims.

The real estate involved is the ground in the North Main street area between Shewell avenue and Broad street (the section behind the Armory) with an entrance on Main street between the Ritter and Lear properties.

The defendants are Pine Company, Inc., Wynne James, Jr., and Dr. and Mrs. I. Harry Ritter, all of this borough.

PETITION COURT TO APPROVE SETTLEMENT

Court Authorizes Payment of $850 in the Mayer Case

PARENTS FILED CLAIM

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 3.—Following a petition for approval of a compromise in a settlement action in the Court of Common Pleas, here, President Judge Hiram H. Keller authorized the payment of $850, part of which will be received by a seven-year-old Quakertown girl.

Kathleen Mayer, daughter of Frank and Katie Mayer, of Quakertown, will receive $431.50. She was injured in an automobile accident in Quakertown October 23, 1946, when the defendant, Robert L. Reinhart, was driving his car west on East Broad street.

The parents, in a statement of claim filed in the Prothonotary's office, allege medical expenses were $134; hospital, $81.50 and nursing care, $100, or a total of $315.

The Court stipulated that counsel fees might be $100, thus permitting the remainder of $131.50 for the minor's award.

Claiming damages amounting to $25,000, Rudolph E. Zerunich, 2019 Bridge road, Fox Chase, has named Joan Barclay, Holland, Northampton township, the defendant in an action in trespass.

The defendant, who listed two pages of itemized garage parts, stated the materials to repair his car cost $402.18, and the labor bill was $255.25, or a garage bill of $657.43.

The two-car collision happened June 23 on a Trenton to Philadelphia highway, near Feasterville.

Harry L. White, Newtown, RD 1, Wrightstown road Upper Makefield township, has named the defendant by Chester W. Haigh in a writ in summons in assumpsit. Details of the claim were not filed.

SLACKS PRO AND CON

Most of the 2,000 inhabitants of the little town of Camden, in the mountains of upstate New York, are described in press reports as taking sides on the question of slacks for eighth graders.
The argument ceased to be private when the state board of education was asked to rule on it, so it has become a valid subject for editorial side-taking.

Jeanette Delahunt, 14, went to school wearing wool slacks. She is a well-behaved child, an honor student. Her parents approved of her wearing slacks to school—
thought they were warm, sensible and decent. Principal Barker disagreed. He told Jeanette to go home and put on a dress.

Jeanette's father was annoyed.
As long as the slacks hadn't caused a disturbance or affected discipline, he resented being told by a principal how he should dress his daughter. He went to see Barker.
After waiting 40 minutes, he was told that Jeanette could come back to school, but she would be segregated by the other children and taught by a special instructor.

Delahunt is appealing over Barker's head to the state department of education. Parents everywhere will hope Barker gets his come-uppance. What business does he have meddling with feminine fashions?

THE ONLY CHOICE

There are many dire predictions
about the future of the application of atomic energy, but scientists are working daily on the theory that the human family will show some sense and use this great discovery
for the advancement of mankind.
Among other bright promises is that atomic knowledge will permit
an amazing enrichment of depleted farm soil. In fact, there is the hope that under atomic treatment soil
will show such superior yielding power that the world will emerge from the present "dark age" of farming, in which the world's population is hard put to get enough to eat, into an era when there will be plenty to sustain everybody.

This magic key to the agricultural future is found in the great potency of radio-isotopes. The radioactivity of these agents permits science to use them as tracers to learn what soil needs for its enrichment. This will lift fertilization to an exact science. At present only a small percentage of ef-fectuating the only logical choice.

No one can say Washington didn't know what it was doing this once. It voted to divide Palestine and, brother, it is.

Dodge Offers 248
Trucks in New Line

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 5.—A completely new line of Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks comprising 248 basic chassis models ranging from 4250
to 23,000 pounds gross vehicle weight and up to 40,000 pounds
gross train weight was announced today by L. F. VanNortwick, Director of Truck Sales of the Dodge Division, Chrysler Corporation.

Some models of the new trucks
will be displayed starting January 7 by Percy G. Ford Motor Co., in Bristol.

new trucks. They were designed to combine appearance with comfort, safety, performance, economy and ease of handling.

Front axles have been moved back and engines have been moved forward to place more of the gross vehicle weight on the front axle and provide better weight distribution. The wheelbase for conventional models through the 2-ton has been reduced eight inches, while the 2½- and 3-ton models have been reduced six inches. The new trucks have been engineered so that despite the shorter wheelbases, the cab - to - axle dimensions remain practically unchanged, making it possible to use the same length bodies as before.

New ease of handling and driving has been provided by the shorter wheelbases and wider tread front
axle, together with cross steering,
which is a new feature on all conventional cab models. The cross steering permits a 37-degree turning angle both right and left. Drive-ers now can park or back into alleys or up to loading platforms with much greater ease. Road shock through the steering wheel is greatly reduced by the cross steering,
which has the drag link running parallel with the front axle.

Standard, deluxe and custom cabs provide more room, more visibility, more safety and more comfort for the driver.

Seat width has been increased to 57½ inches to permit three large men to ride without crowding. The chair-height seats provide leg support under the knees and can be adjusted seven inches. The natural back support also is adjustable for maximum comfort.

The seat cushion utilizes air in combination with coil springs to provide comfort. A hand control allows the driver to adjust cushion buoyancy to his weight or road conditions.

Comfort in any season or weather
is provided by an all-weather heating and ventilating system which is an ingenious combination of truck heater, defroster vents, vent windows, cowl ventilator, and fresh air intake.

Deluxe and custom cabs have what is termed "360-degree vision" through increased glass area and installation of rear quarter windows. Windshields and windows of the new "Pilot House" cabs are higher and wider, adding to vision and safety. Drivers can enter or leave the conventional cab easily from either side since the gear shift and emergency brake levers have been moved forward to give clear floor space from door to door.

Conventional models can be roadserviced from the left side as the fuel tank, oil filler, radiator filler,
and battery are so located.

Dodge has seven different engines
to handle the power requirements of its new line. Numerous engine improvements have been made.

Braking systems are larger and improved. Front and rear axles have increased load - carrying capacity.
Front springs are longer. Radiator cores have been redesigned to facilitate better cooling. Exceptional improvements have been made in frame construction.

SLACKS PRO AND CON

Most of the 2,000 inhabitants of the little town of Camden, in the mountains of upstate New York, are described in press reports as taking sides on the question of slacks for eighth graders. The argument ceased to be private when the state board of education was asked to rule on it, so it has become a valid subject for editorial side-taking.

Jeanette Delahunt, 14, went to school wearing wool slacks. She is a well-behaved child, an honor student. Her parents approved of her wearing slacks to school—thought they were warm, sensible and decent. Principal Barker disagreed. He told Jeanette to go home and put on a dress.

Jeanette's father was annoyed. As long as the slacks hadn't caused a disturbance or affected discipline, he resented being told by a principal how he should dress his daughter. He went to see Barker. After waiting 40 minutes, he was told that Jeanette could come back to school, but she would be segregated from the other children and taught by a special instructor.

Delahunt is appealing over Barker's head to the state department of education. Parents everywhere will hope Barker gets his come-uppance. What business does he have meddling with feminine fashions?

Slacks are worn, as a matter of course, by children in the lower grades. Slacks are worn by their mothers, old and young, fat and lean. Whatever novelty there may have been in these garments has long since vanished, and it is now generally recognized that whatever they may lack in esthetic appeal they make up in utility.

THE ONLY CHOICE

There are many dire predictions about the future of the application of atomic energy, but scientists are working daily on the theory that the human family will show some sense and use this great discovery for the advancement of mankind.

Among other bright promises is that atomic knowledge will permit an amazing enrichment of depleted farm soil. In fact, there is the hope that under atomic treatment soil will show such superior yielding power that the world will emerge from the present "dark age" of farming, in which the world's population is hard put to get enough to eat, into an era when there will be plenty to sustain everybody.

This magic key to the agricultural future is found in the great potency of radio-isotopes. The radioactivity of these agents permits science to use them as tracers to learn what soil needs for its enrichment. This will lift fertilization to an exact science. At present only a small percentage of fertilizer used is efficient.

All this revolves about the fact that the atomic discovery has potentialities of great good or of stupendous destruction. Surely humankind will find means of effectuating the only logical choice.

No one can say Washington didn't know what it was doing this once. It voted to divide Palestine and, brother, it is.

Dodge Offers 248 Trucks in New Line

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 5—A completely new line of Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks comprising 248 basic chassis models ranging from 4250 to 23,000 pounds gross vehicle weight and up to 40,000 pounds gross train weight was announced today by L. F. VanNortwick, Director of Truck Sales of the Dodge Division, Chrysler Corporation.

Some models of the new trucks will be displayed starting January 7 by Percy G. Ford Motor Co. in Bristol.

A combination of massive strength and smoothly flowing lines is the keynote of styling for the new trucks. They were designed to combine appearance with comfort, safety, performance, economy and ease of handling.

Front axles have been moved back and engines have been moved forward to place more of the gross vehicle weight on the front axle and provide better weight distribution. The wheelbase for conventional models through the 2-ton has been reduced eight inches, while the 2½- and 3-ton models have been reduced six inches. The new trucks have been engineered so that despite the shorter wheelbases, the cab - to - axle dimensions remain practically unchanged, making it possible to use the same length bodies as before.

New ease of handling and driving has been provided by the shorter wheelbases and wider tread front axle, together with cross steering, which is a new feature on all conventional cab models. The cross steering permits a 37-degree turning angle both right and left. Drivers now can park or back into alleys or up to loading platforms with much greater ease. Road shock through the steering wheel is greatly reduced by the cross steering, which has the drag link running parallel with the front axle.

Standard, deluxe and custom cabs provide more room, more visibility, more safety and more comfort for the driver.

Seat width has been increased to 57½ inches to permit three large men to ride without crowding. The chair-height seats provide leg support under the knees and can be adjusted seven inches. The natural back support also is adjustable for maximum comfort.

The seat cushion utilizes air in combination with coil springs to provide comfort. A hand control allows the driver to adjust cushion buoyancy to his weight or road conditions.

Comfort in any season or weather is provided by an all-weather heating and ventilating system which is an ingenious combination of truck heater, defroster vents, vent windows, cowl ventilator, and fresh air intake.

Deluxe and custom cabs have what is termed "360-degree vision" through increased glass area and installation of rear quarter windows. Windshields and windows of the new "Pilot-House" cabs are higher and wider, adding to vision and safety. Drivers can enter or leave the conventional cab easily from either side since the gear shift and emergency brake levers have been moved forward to give clear floor space from door to door.

Conventional models can be road-serviced from the left side as the fuel tank, oil filler, radiator filler, and battery are so located.

Dodge has seven different engines to handle the power requirements of its new line. Numerous engine improvements have been made.

Braking systems are larger and improved. Front and rear axles have increased load - carrying capacity. Front springs are longer. Radiator cores have been redesigned to facilitate better cooling. Exceptional improvements have been made in frame construction.

As You Prefer at the home, church, or in our modern establishment with its atmosphere of quiet and restfulness. Our entire equipment and facilities are in the service of the people of this community. The question of cost is never a problem, never a burden.

Amen.

McDEVITT'S GOAL FROM MID-COURT DEFEATS R. & H.

BRISTOL BASKETBALL LEAGUE

CROYDON VETS - PROFY'S
ST. ANN'S - FIFTH WARD
(Bristol H. S. Gym)

Joe McDevitt's field goal from the middle of the floor gave the Hibernians a one-point 50-49 win over the Rohm & Haas team last night in an extra period game on the high school floor. The win gave the Hibs undisputed possession of first place in the Bristol Basketball League.

The Rohm & Haas team had just taken a 49-48 lead as the result of Bob Anderson's converted foul shot when with 30 seconds remaining to be played, McDevitt secured the ball at mid-court. He took one step and let loose with a one-handed shot. The ball dropped cleanly through the net for the deciding goal.

The Hibernians came from behind twice to win the tilt. They were trailing by six points with less than two minutes to go during the regulation game when Jess Vanzant scored a double-decker and "Tom" Donnelly followed with a pair in quick succession.

At the start of the extra session, "Chuck" Fischer scored twice from the floor and "Augie" Everitt got one under the net. "Freddie" Stewart scored from side court and the Hibs were behind by eight points. Undaunted, McDevitt dropped in a pair of fouls and Vanzant and Rodgers scored the necessary goals to even the count at 48-48 before the exciting climax.

The fact that Rohm and Haas lost "Chuck" Klein and "Ed" Mazzanti, their best guards, before the extra period had much to do with their defeat. Guarding "Johnny" Rodgers for three quarters, Klein held the high-scoring Hibs' forward scoreless.

McDevitt and Joe Elmer were outstanding for the winning combination while "Chuck" Fischer played a wonderful game for the losing team. Freddie Stewart made three timely field goals for the chemical mixers.

KNIGHTS WIN THIRD STRAIGHT GAME OF SEASON

The Knights of Columbus contingent won its third straight game last night beating the Falls Alumni team, 37-33, in a thrilling contest on the Bristol high school court. The victory brought a halt to the three-game winning streak of the Alumni lads.

The tilt was close from start to finish. The Knights had a 15-8 lead at the quarter but held a slim 20-18 edge at half-time. One point separated the team at the end of the third canto, the score being 23-22 with the Casesys in front.

Field goals by Vince Profy and Stan Lelinski in the closing minutes of the game gave the Radcliffe streeters the win although before the finish they held an eight-point lead which was shaved in half by double-deckers shot by "Norm" White and "Charlie" Duerr.

Joe Quigley scored 12 of the winners' tallies and gave the largest crowd of the season an example of the foul shooting which crown he won last season by converting four out of five fouls.

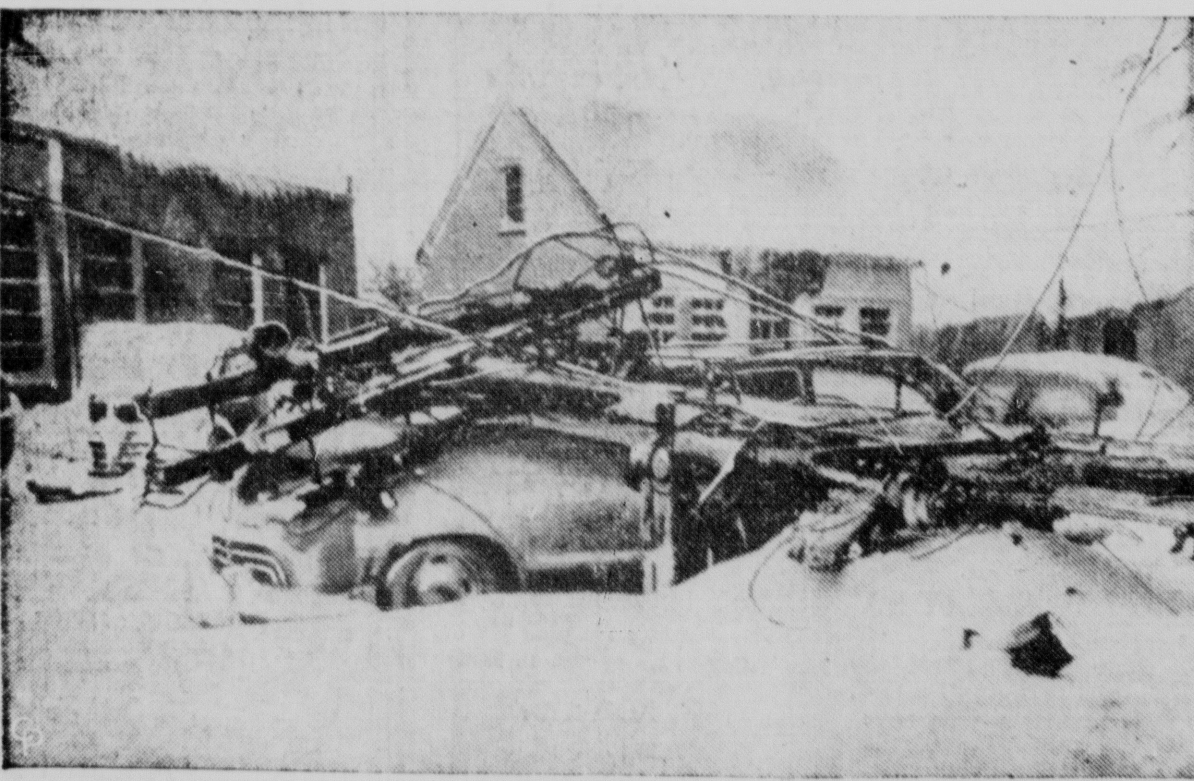

Two more games will be played tonight. In the opener, the Croydon Vets will meet the Profy team while in the second encounter, the Fifth Ward Sporting Club will line-up against St. Ann's.

The Great Game of Politics

Butlers and Wherrys in the Senate and the Messrs. Jonkman and Dworshak in the House, and notwithstanding the ugly nature of the hostile propaganda beginning to make its appearance. This confidence is based on five things: (1) the appalling urgency of the situation with which we are confronted; (2) the overwhelming strength of the arguments for the Marshall plan; (3) the degree to which we already are committed and our national honor as well as self respect is involved; (4) the catastrophic consequences of failure to act; (5) the personal character of General Marshall and the extraordinary esteem in which he is held by the American people.

HOWEVER, regardless of the violence of the opposition and the certainty that the setup which gives the operating head responsibility without authority will be changed, there is every expectation that the main features of the plan will go through. Of the five reasons given above for this faith the last is by no means the least. Actually, the personality of George C. Marshall lends tremendous persuasiveness to the plan not only in Congress but among the people as a whole, despite the fact that the Gallup polls indicate more than 70 per cent of them have no idea what it is all about.

IT IS true the labor bosses, practically all the presidential aspirants and most of the politicians are for its objectives. It is true informed popular sentiment is overwhelmingly for it. It is true, too, the attitude and support of Senator Vandenberg is enormously helpful in this light. Nevertheless, it is the complete identification of the plan with General Marshall that is indispensable to its success. Without him, its chances would be poor. With him, it is almost inconceivable it can fail. It is his sponsorship which removes from the proposal all vestige of politics and partisanship. How wise now seems his statement nearly a year ago, emphatically stamping himself as utterly unavailable for any elective office under any conditions. This it is that stands him out as the one public man in the country wholly free of all personal ambition and with no possible ax to grind.

THIS is it that gives him the confidence of the people to a degree no other man in the nation has it. Even those who do not understand the Marshall plan understand that here is a man who loves his country and is serving it with complete unselfishness in the most arduous and difficult job any Secretary of State ever undertook requiring great patience, wisdom and fortitude, possession of which qualities he has evidenced in a singularly impressive way. The plan which he has proposed is not only noble in conception and in the highest American tradition, but it so completely meets every practical test that, except for Mr. Wallace, the Communists, the Left-wing crackpots and the incurable isolationists, the opposition in the country is negligible. No important leader in either party opposes the principle or the objectives of the plan. They differ as to details, but they agree that while risk is involved in this great adventure, the risks of refusing to take it are greater.

THE danger is that in the wrangle over details the final shape of the plan may be altered and it enactment so delayed that effectiveness will be diminished, and both costs and risks devastatingly increased. There is certain to be a lot of bitterness engendered by the debate and there are a few individuals in Congress eager to go to extremes to block approval. That they will succeed is exceedingly unlikely. It is difficult to believe that Congress, in so grave a matter, will disregard the words and scuttle the efforts of this calm, wise, selfless man who has placed himself so far above politics that he does not have to exaggerate or color his cause, but whose words, backed by knowledge and judgment, carry conviction because he has no motive to utter anything save the undiluted truth.

SHOULD Congress falter in this great crisis it would humiliate the nation in the eyes of the world; it would shame millions of American citizens and it would have effects so disastrous that no one wants to contemplate them. This isn't a Democratic plan, or a Republican plan, or an Administration plan. It is the Marshall plan, which means it is the American plan.

2 Drivers React Very Differently, Storm Menace

The truck driver was approaching the hill at Center Bridge on Route 202 detour, between Doylestown and Lahaska. Says Emery: "Cautiously, he halted his truck. He got out and walked down the steep hill into Center Bridge. He knew the highway wasn't safe because the falling and drifting snow kept covering up the cinders. The hill had been cindered four or five times.

"He contacted the highway department about the cinders being snowed under, ground into the snow making the hill too slippery.

"Another truck came along and the driver 'took a chance.' His truck slid into a position which blocked the road for eight hours. The truck was hauling 250 cans of milk.

"Ten trucks were tied up because one driver took a chance."

Trooper Emery said a New York college official who had no chains in his car, was attempting to drive during the snow storm. The car got stuck and his family tried to help push it out.

"The better educated they are the dumber they can act sometimes," said Trooper Emery, who said he didn't see how the motorist figured that he could drive on the snow covered highway without chains.

"It certainly made me feel good to see a safety-conscious truck driver teach those other guys how to drive and stay alive," Trooper Emery commented.

Butlers and Wherrys in the Senate and the Messrs. Jonkman and Dworshak in the House, and notwithstanding the ugly nature of the hostile propaganda beginning to make its appearance. This confidence is based on five things: (1) the appalling urgency of the situation with which we are confronted; (2) the overwhelming strength of the arguments for the Marshall plan; (3) the degree to which we already are committed and our national honor as well as self respect is involved; (4) the catastrophic consequences of failure to act; (5) the personal character of General Marshall and the extraordinary esteem in which he is held by the American people.

HOWEVER, regardless of the violence of the opposition and the certainty that the setup which gives the operating head responsibility without authority will be (and should be) changed, there is every expectation that the main features of the plan will go through. Of the five reasons given above for this faith the last is by no means the least. Actually, the personality of George C. Marshall lends tremendous persuasiveness to the plan not only in Congress but among the people as a whole, despite the fact that the Gallup polls indicate more than 70 per cent of them have no idea what it is all about.

IT IS true the labor bosses, practically all the presidential aspirants and most of the politicians are for its objectives. It is true informed popular sentiment is overwhelmingly for it. It is true, too, the attitude and support of Senator Vandenberg is enormously helpful in this fight. Nevertheless, it is the complete identification of the plan with General Marshall that is indispensable to its success. Without him, its chances would be poor. With him, it is almost inconceivable it can fail. It is his sponsorship which removes from the proposal all vestige of politics and partisanship. How wise now seems his statement nearly a year ago, emphatically stamping himself as utterly unavailable for any elective office under any conditions. This is it that stands him out as the one public man in the country wholly free of all personal ambition and with no possible axe to grind.

THIS is it that gives him the confidence of the people to a degree no other man in the nation has it. Even those who do not understand the Marshall plan understand that here is a man who loves his country and is serving it with complete unselfishness in the most arduous and difficult job any Secretary of State ever undertook requiring great patience, wisdom and fortitude, possession of which qualities he has evidenced in a singularly impressive way. The plan which he has proposed is not only noble in conception and in the highest American tradition, but it so completely meets every practical test that, except for Mr. Wallace, the Communists, the Left-wing crackpots and the incurable isolationists, the opposition in the country is negligible. No important leader in either party opposes the principle or the objectives of the plan. They differ

TRANSFORMER CRASHES IN MASSACHUSETTS BLIZZARD

AT THE HEIGHT OF A SWIRLING BLIZZARD, a huge transformer crashed to the ground in Medford, Mass., causing the tangle of metal and snow covered cars pictured above.
